U. S. Warning to Europe in Mexico

TO PROTECT CENTRAL AMERICA

Federal Government Planning
an Armed Protectorate
Under Treaty Plan.

WON'T RECOGNIZE HUERTA

President Wilson in Washington today instructed that the United States would under no circumstances recognize the Huerta government in Mexico. The United States, fearing the designs of European powers, is planning an armed protectorate over all Central America.

A United States warship will be sent to Vera Cruz, Mexico, to protect American lives and property.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—That the United States would under no circumstances recognize the Huerta government in Mexico, because that administration is recognized by the United States, was the gist of President Wilson's semi-weekly conference with the newspaper cabinet today.

The instruction of the cabinet, the President said, is the underlying principle for the Mexican part proposed by Secretary of State Bryan.

Will Not Recognize Huerta.

Will Greatly Benefit Towns, Says
Commodore Miller.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—According to Commodore J. W. Miller, in the National Waterways Magazine, the Cape Cod Canal will save three days to coast shippers.

Commodore Miller says: "Not only will the hazard of navigation around the cape be obviated, but the channel will be reduced several miles and a saving of three days in transit will be effected for large tonnage which carry annually $100,000 loss of coal from Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Forts Ambrose and Boston and the northern New England salt centers."

Ho! Ho! Ho! Here's a Chance to Laugh

Glass Revolver Makes a Sprinter; Officer Makes Arrest.

This is a joke on a fellow, who when last seen was making forty-five miles an hour in a desperate sprint south on Shawmut avenue.

Patrolman Brown, Saturday night, saw Robert F. Russell of the Boston Railway Department, come out of a saloon, go across the street, and start running with a man. Then the officer saw Russell draw a revolver and make it snicker for the other man.

By the time Brown got across the street, the man had looked down the revolver was four blocks north and snickered. Russell was arrested and today was charged with larceny, assault and carrying dangerous weapons.

But they found he was "larceny," he hadn't actually assaulted the other man and the revolver was of steel. Russell was freed.

Let's all laugh at the man that ran.

ARMED GANGS OF SOFIA

Roumanians Escaped Out- side Belgian Capital to En- force Peace Agreement.

50,000 PUT TO SWORD

LONDON, July 21.—The Roumanians today in the capital outside today, the Bulgarian capital, ready to begin a assault if the Bulgarians fail to live up to the official announcement, made today, of their determination to conclude peace negotiations with the other Balkan states.

Turkey reoccupied Adrianople, which it lost in the Balkan war, with the consent of Austria, according to a Vienna dispatch to the "Central News" today.

It is said that the action of the Turks in retaking the city captured during the Balkan Treaty war will be upheld by the Powers after a perfunctory diplomatic protest.

50,000 Put to Sword.

The advance of the Roumanian army on Sofia will probably be halted following Bulgarian consent to allow the Roumanian delegate to enter into the peace conference between the Sofia government and the other Balkan States.

The London Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Temu Dzhid, Bulgaria, writes: "There is a town of some 50,000 inhabitants, and all the countryside for miles is a redoubtable chaos. It is difficult to imagine a hundred-fold in every item of property."

It is quite impossible to exaggerate either the number of victims or the variety of barbarity in their deaths.

Not only was the town destroyed and the inhabitants interned, but the country side for a score of miles has been practically wiped out.

My inquiries in the village of this district lead me to believe that during the past three months about 50,000 human beings have been down to death, of whom a vast majority were Turks."

The Greek army today occupied Pervos, routing the entire Bulgarian force, which is in full retreat.

Bulgar Spirit Crushed.

Suffering defeat after defeat at the hands of its former allies and friends, the crumbling Bulgarian army at the hands of the Turks, who re-occupied Adrianople without opposition, the war spirit of the Bulgarians has been crushed.

The breaking of Adrianople by the Turks seems to mark the utter collapse of Bulgaria's resistance to the attack of its former allies and its former enemy. The Bulgarians are believed to be burning and pillaging in Adrianople.

Friedman will at once bring a bill to compel the North Shore Ice company of Lynn to obey the order of the State Board of Health, relating to impure ice, so far as this order applies to ice taken from the coast of Lynn.

The Attorney-General's move follows the passage by the Legislature of a resolution directing him to investigate the ice situation and to see whether there was a possibility of advancing the ice and city and State authorities have brought prosecutions against several of the firms selling shore water ice.

Riot at Arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst

Women Followers Try to Rescue
Suffragette Leader.

LONDON, July 21.—In one of the fiercest riots which has marked the anti-franchise propaganda in Great Britain, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragettes, was arrested today with six of her followers.

The fight with the detectives came when the officers tried to seize Mrs. Pankhurst as she was entering the House of Commons. She was taken to the police station, where her daughter Sylvia and other prominent suffragettes were being held.

Mrs. Pankhurst was seized after a violent struggle. When the frenzied women saw their leader in the hands of the officers they charged upon them, using hats and all sorts of weapons to try to rescue their leader.

The officers, however, held on to their prisoner and repeatedly resisted the attacks of the women. Six other women, the detectives in the attack, were taken into custody.

Mrs. Pankhurst was taken to Holloway Jail.

Mulhall Tells of Trailing of Gompers

Says Bucks Stove Co. Attorney Has Typical Trade Specimens.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Colonel M. Mulhall of Baltimore today continued the identification of the letters read by the government today committee bearing on the political activities of the National Association of Manufacturers. Chairman Greenham hopes to complete the examination of the Mulhall letters this week.

Paul D. Cavath, through Senator O'Gorman, got into the record a statement from Thomas G. Wilson of New York, denying the correctness of the statement on which Judge Lander declined to issue his charge that a forgery of $100,000 was made on the books of the Union Trust.

Mulhall declared that Judge Thompson, attorney for the Bucks Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, traced several documents during the 1908 campaign with micrographs in the hope that he might get something which could be used in the attention of the Federal grand jury.

Mulhall declared today that his examination of the documents was completed. He declared that he was not able to find any evidence of a forgery of $100,000 being made on the books of the Union Trust.

MOLLY SAWTELLE, North End girl whose sweetheart, Peter Cuccinotto, shot himself after she had refused to elope with him.

SWEETHEART OF BOY SUICIDE EXPLAINS ALL

Little Molly Sawtelle, the thirteen-year-old North End girl whose sweetheart, Peter Cuccinotto, shot himself after she had refused to elope with him and fell dying at her feet, today gave an account of the marriage custom which had kept her and her boy sweetheart apart.

It was Peter Cuccinotto of No. 10, South Street, and was thirteen, the day he died. The Italian custom says, however, that they had known each other four years—and had loved for half as long.

They had known each other four years—and had loved for half as long. They had known each other four years—and had loved for half as long.

FINANCIER MAY NOT LIVE UNTIL COUNCIL ACTS

LAST BULLETIN ON C. F. KING.

King has grown steadily weaker since 7 a. m. King 140, temperature 98, circulation 26. His skin is very cold. He is in terrible agony and does not speak. Operation would be fatal and he cannot live very long.—Dr. E. B. Emerson, medical director, Bridgewater State Hospital.

A desperate effort to get Cardinal Foss, who is at the point of death in Bridgewater State Hospital, pardoned on this afternoon failed when Attorney-General Swift ruled that members of the Governor's Council could not legally give their approval to the pardon over the telephone.

When Governor Foss was unable, after ten minutes' argument, to induce the Attorney-General from this position, he called a special meeting of the Council at nine o'clock tomorrow morning.

King will be pardoned and will be released from the hospital—if he is still alive.

Mr. King and his four sons, who suffered all over again the tortures of waiting which they endured at previous struggles for pardon, will be waiting at the hospital with an automobile in which to bear the dying man to his Winchester home.

Even if King does not live through the journey, they will feel that at least he died a pardoned man and did not die behind bars—as had been his dread with unpassable horror.

But Assistant Attorney General Greenham, son of the late Governor Greenham, ruled that the Council could not give their approval to the pardon over the telephone.

This was at noon. Attorney General Swift was at a hearing before the United States Circuit Court in the Federal Building. Governor Foss sent for him.

The Attorney General confirmed the decision of his assistant. He said that, if members of the Council might vote by telephone, the members of the Legislature might do so.

As soon as conditions are in favor of a pardon, there will be no trouble over the matter when the special meeting comes at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The only real question seems to be whether King will live long enough to join the comfort of the pardon.

MRS. GENEVIEVE C. PHIPPS, divorced wife of Lawrence Phipps, Pittsburgh millionaire. She is in Boston.

Mrs. Genevieve C. Phipps, divorced wife of Lawrence Phipps, the Pittsburgh millionaire, who is visiting in the Chamber of Commerce, refused today to discuss the report that she is the wife of Edward W. B. Powell, a young chairman of Deaver.

Powell, who is registered at the Tourist, refuses to answer calls. Mrs. Phipps, if she is again a bride, will leave tonight and will meet the steamer tomorrow. When today's message came, announcing that the Yacht will reach tomorrow at 5 o'clock, this afternoon and may dock at or close, a large crowd of people gathered at the pier at New York late this afternoon.

Mrs. Phipps registered under that name at the hotel, but made the voyage here on the liner "Mrs. G. Phipps." The "E. W. Powell" was also on the first ship, but was in the description of Powell.

Further strengthening the rumor, an acting manager in a letter to Mrs. Phipps told her that the same time Mrs. Phipps did, he was going to be married to a young man from Boston. His friends in Boston have heard from him several times from Europe, but no word was received from South America.

Mrs. Phipps was in Europe at the time. A fact which was commented on in Deaver when Mrs. Phipps and Powell departed for Europe. It was said that Mrs. Phipps was leaving to take a new agreement with the Chamber of Commerce, a beautiful and wealthy widow and a sister of Mrs. Virginia C. Phipps, who is engaged to marry Raymond Haver, nephew of the sugar king, Powell, had been very attentive to Mrs. Phipps.

COMPROMISE BY RAILROADS IS EXPECTED

NEW YORK, July 21.—Judge William L. Chambers and G. W. W. Hanger, who were appointed by President Wilson on Saturday as arbitrators, and said that the compromise of the Board of Mediation and Conciliation under the terms of the Newlands amendment to the Railroad Act, is expected to be reached.

The clash in the situation last week was over the proposal of the railroad managers' conference committee that arbitrators should be appointed to arbitrate at the same time as the brotherhood's demands are considered.

The prevailing belief was that the railroads would consent to a compromise by withdrawing their grievance from the time being, with the understanding that they will be taken up as soon as the employees' demands have been arbitrated. It was said that the union leaders would stand firm against the arbitration of the two controversies at the same time, but would be willing to agree to the separate hearings.

GIRL HEROINE AT FIRE SAVES MOTHER'S LIFE

An aged invalid was rescued by her daughter and a dozen other persons, mostly women, were saved from flames, flames and citizens, who rushed there over foot, the escapes and stairs were during a fire in the rear of the building house at Green and Everett streets, West End, early today.

The house was formerly the residence of James Russell Lowell, the poet, and several years ago was removed from Charles and Poplar streets to its present site.

The heroes of the fire were James Welch, eight years old, the Thirteenth Street, across the street, "Martin, the Frank's Man," and Patricia Cunningham of the Joy street station. Welch saw the flames from his office. He shouted to a man on a barrel wagon to sound an alarm and then broke open the front door.

Cunningham heard Welch's cries and ran to the house. He followed Welch upstairs and looked into the room where Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, a sixty-year-old invalid, was awakened by her daughter, Katie, twenty-two, and a boy from the stable of W. K. Porter, next door. The girl, aided by the boy, carried her mother out. Welch ran to the second floor, from where she was later carried to the street by friends. Martin rescued Elsie Devaux and Susan Woodge, who were asleep on the third floor. Miss Devaux fell on stairs and escaped over the roof, while Martin led Miss Woodge along the fire escape to the roof of Porter's stable and then returned to the burning house to assist in the rescue of others.

Lillian Russell Saved.

Newcastle, Patience Cunningham had awakened everybody else on the upper floors and carried Mrs. Lillian Russell, a famous singer, from her room on the third floor to the street. "No others had to the street or were carried out by friends.

The blaze started in a storeroom on the second floor, and burned through the kitchen and dining room. "What caused the fire is not known. The damage was $1000.

"Why Have Women Shapely Legs?"

Baroness de Guesstre Hints They Are to Be Seen.

PARIS, July 21.—The new and palatial Champs Elysees Theatre, with its Russian style and famous prices, is the result of the efforts of the Baroness de Guesstre, who is the owner of the theatre. When a lady appears in the stalls in sandals all wearing a military garment is the sign of a changing gown. Gown gowns, people are inclined to ask how far the latest gown of fashion will extend.

For the planner is a well known lady, the Baroness de Guesstre. The Baroness said she hoped all smart Parisiennes would adopt her style of dress.

"Why are women given lovely feet or shapely legs?" she asked. "To hide and cloak them out of the eyes of the world, true, it is only a Summer costume and could not be worn in cold weather, but I have a Winter surprise in store."

Eaton, who was killed by police. Mrs. Eaton, who was in the Plymouth Jail since March, today her husband would come at the special term of court in September.

Now I will be locked in here three months longer. I am so confident that I will be acquitted, I want to have the trial over with as soon as possible."

Attorneys William A. More and Francis G. Goss, counsel for Mrs. Eaton, were in consultation with her for three hours before the delay, while waiting on her lawyers.

See 3 High Hills in Winthrop Mirage

Summer People Astonished as Boat Sail into Optical Illusions

Winthrop boats the first mirage of the season for this stretch of Atlantic coast.

This mirage appeared about 5 miles in the afternoon in the form of three high hills, with cliffs, fronts, which seemed to stand out of the water and midway between Deer Island and the Green's Lightship. One of the hills was estimated to be 200 feet high. Winthrop "mirage" rubbed their eyes in surprise when they saw the mirage.

Additional vessels were sent to the scene, but they were unable to see the mirage. From shore the mirage was seen as a series of hills, and the boats were seen to sail into the mirage.

EVERETT GIRL AIDS MAN WHO SHIELDED HER

After hearing how Miss Bessie H. Mullen, a stylish and beautiful girl, had called on a hulky stranger to shield her from the tirades of an alleged "madman," Judge Brown today in the Maiden District Court completely turned the tables of Edward F. Neal, of Lewis street, Everett, who accused George J. Blanevelt, of Chelsea street, Everett, of assault and battery.

Neal had sworn he was beaten with out provocation. Then Blanevelt took the stand. He said he was securing a young lady home at her own request. "She complained that Neal violated to her, made remarks to her and then followed her," Blanevelt told Judge Brown. "He went to her all when she called from the opposite side of the street to me. Then Neal came up and took hold of my coat. I went forward to his having me arrested for beating him."

The Court called Miss Mullen into court. "I was walking along the street at night," she said. "Neal tried to flirt with me and his actions became so objectionable that I finally had to call to a gentleman to come to my assistance. This was Mr. Blanevelt."

Judge Brown (directing) ordered Blanevelt discharged and had a complaint drawn up against Neal. Then Blanevelt, with assaulting Blanevelt. The case was continued until Wednesday for a hearing.

HALT LITIGIOUS FOR OPERATION ON STORROW

The public hearing of the board of arbitrators to sit on a difference between the Boston Elevated and its employees, which had been announced for today, was postponed till Thursday, when it was understood that James E. Storrow, the third man on the board, had been forced to submit to a slight operation.

James E. Storrow and James E. Richards are the other members of the Board of Arbitrators. A letter from Mr. Storrow was read, in which he said:

Since the preliminary meeting on the 10th, I have been out of town, and only returned Saturday, Sunday, my doctor, consequently informed me that I must undergo a slight operation on my neck. I have agreed to let him go ahead, and will probably be unable to take part in your deliberations for a fortnight.

Will you kindly treat this letter as my resignation. If you wish to proceed promptly with the hearings, rather than take a longer postponement.

Mr. Storrow was operated upon for enlarged glands of the neck at the Parker Hospital, Boston, Friday afternoon. Dr. Daniel Fiske Jones of No. 155 Beacon street performed the operation, and the patient is rapidly recovering. Mr. Jones said that it was reasonable to expect that Mr. Storrow would be able to serve upon the board of arbitrators.

Chappelle Tells How He Became Famous

$15,000 White Sox Player Says He Takes Baseball Seriously

Larry Chappelle, the star outfielder of the American Association, recently purchased by the White Sox, is an Illinois product. He is a clean-cut, tall, athletic fellow, not prone to be overcautious of his own ability, and a conscientious, hard-working ball player.

He is greatly pleased over the fact he is to sport the White Sox duds and has kindly consented to give his views of "breaking into the big league" to the Boston AMERICAN.

Here is his story: BY LARRY CHAPPELLE.

I am not exceedingly strong for that expression, "breaking into the big league."

To say that one breaks into the league is a little over the top, and I would rather say that I am pleased to have graduated from the minors.

Do you know, it's a strange sensation when a ball player sees his name on the sport page coupled with the statement "number of big league clubs are bidding for his services."

If that is slavery I'm strong for it. Baseball slavery is not so bad after all.

Pleased With Change.

But, let me say, I have graduated. And when a fellow graduates he is just entering the world.

This boy who gets it into his noodle that his graduation on the evening of "commencement" is the end, has another scene coming.

It is the commencement for sure and I feel the same way about leaving the minors and going up.

I realize that I will be up against a steeper proposition than I have known, and it will not be just soft pucking.

I have known for the past week or so that something was coming, but I just didn't know it was so close.

There I was, sitting in my room, helpless so far as choosing my own course was concerned. It was up to me. I knew, to go wherever I happened to be sent.

My mother, who lives at Jerseyville, Ill., saw in the papers a few days ago that I was to "go under the hammer" at auction.

She wrote me a letter and said, "I suppose they are leading you around by the bridge like they do to a horse at an auction, and I don't want to see you at the top of the pole."

Am I glad that I landed in Chicago? Well, there ever been a boy in a small Illinois or Indiana town who did not yearn to land in Chicago some day, as soon as he was old enough to get out?

Chicago His Favorite Spot.

Every country lad wants to go to Chicago, and although Jerseyville is nearer St. Louis than Chicago, it has always been my ambition and desire to land in the big town on Lake Michigan.

I can hardly realize my dream has come true. I have been plugging along as best I knew how in the minor leagues. I love the game and I like to play when I am playing. I take baseball seriously, and perhaps that is the reason why the ball players, that is the good players, have been attracted to the game of the big league.

I only hope my good work will continue so I may merit the big league. I am the ball player, that is the good player, and I am the ball player, that is the good player, and I am the ball player, that is the good player.

FACTS ABOUT LARRY CHAPPELLE

Born in Jerseyville, Ill. He is twenty-two years old. This season's American Association star.

Has been hit 347 times this season.

Made 60 runs. Totaled 124 extra hits. Hit 10 home runs.

Three home runs. Five home runs. Fourteen stolen bases.

World's best bat I have been a baseball enthusiast.

Jerseyville may be only a burg, but it has some ball club and it has some ball players.

My parents were not overcautious with delight when they saw my baseball prospectus develop but they did not hand-pick or hamper me in any way, and, like them, I "just grew up" in the game.

Three years ago I landed a berth on the Quincy, Ill., club and played there for a few months when I was hustled to Ben Clark's team.

Clark came up to see me work and signed me for the Brewers.

Since then my life has been an open book. If you doubt it, look up the records.

I attribute much of my success this season to the fact that they are all right.

Harry Clark is my manager, a good fellow, and right now his club is at the top of the American Association race.

I'm strong for Clark and his outfit and I want to say that they are all right.

I am also glad to play with the White Sox because I have heard much concerning the new owner, Mr. C. O. Kelly.

I can assure them I shall give them my best effort and I trust I'll win some money.

Realizes His Duties.

Don't think for a minute that I'm not wise in the fact that they will be a difference in the speed from now on.

I have seen the big league play ball and I know it is a faster game than they play in the minors, but my theory is, when speed with the speed, speed up.

That is the theory of baseball. I believe a ball player should take good care of himself and give his employer his best efforts as he is demanded in every other line of work.

There is a little chance for the player who fails to do this usually land in the junk heap.

Sunday Baseball Falls.

RAYMOND, N. J., July 21.—Sunday semi-professional baseball with enclosed paid and admission has proved unsuccessful.

The Raymont Club, managed by Raymond Joseph Murphy, which had been making money in laying out a field, was out and there was no game yesterday because of lack of support.

Chapman's Fumble Costly.

Mitchell got the Red Sox in order in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings, but would also have retired them in the ninth only for a costly fumble by Chapman.

Tracy's Error.

Tracy's error during the game should have served as a warning to the Sox to pass him. For Tracy was out.

BILL SWEENEY IN CHARGE OF PILGRIMS TODAY

The Pilgrims will play their first game against the Cubs today at the management of Second Baseman Bill Sweeney this afternoon, as Manager Stallings is now in Buffalo, where his wife is making an operation for appendicitis. Stallings will not join the team before it starts West, therefore Sweeney's word will be law in the resulting home games which include today's game and a series with the Cincinnati Reds.

The job of manager is nothing new to Sweeney, as he acted in that capacity six weeks ago, when Stallings was ill, and showed fine judgment in his work, especially in selecting pitchers.

Series in Pilgrims' Favor.

The Pilgrims have the best of the present series with the Cubs, having won two of the last three games played. A late today will put the locals on even terms with the Cubs for the season's play.

It is almost a sure thing that the final series will be won by the Pilgrims.

WIKI GLOVER HAS
CHANCE TO WIN
WELTERWEIGHT TITLE

Only Way to Knock Mutt Out Is to Kick Him on the Shins

Mike Glover Candidate for Welter Honors

No Real Champion of 142-Pounders Since Days of Honey Melody.

By JACK CONWAY.

MIKE GLOVER, who will clash with Marcel Thomas in one of the three thousand bouts at the Atlas A. tomorrow night, is one of the leading candidates for the welterweight championship. Glover has not been any recognized title holder in the 142-pound division for a number of years and the championship has been claimed by a score of glove wielders.

Honey Melody was the last welterweight champion. Honey was defeated by Mike "Twist" Sullivan at Los Angeles on April 25, 1907, but many sporting writers failed to recognize the Cambridge boxer as the king of the 142-pounders.

Sullivan still claims the honors in the welterweight class, but he was not taken seriously by fight "fans." When he was his prime, Mike was a remarkable boxer. He was a student of the "hit and get away" game and was master of the left jab.

The lighter of the Cambridge twins has not boxed for over two years and we believe that he would be unable to make the welterweight limit now. Mike is also thirty years of age, which means that he will never be able to kick his own with the "headlines."

of his countrymen since he knocked out Bonaparte Wells, the English heavyweight "Carpenter" in only sixteen years of age. He first gained world-wide fame when he defeated Jim Sullivan, the English middleweight, at Monte Carlo on February 29, 1912.

LEDOUX STAR BANTAMWEIGHT.
CHARLEY LEDOUX is another star French boxer. Ledoux is a bantamweight, but is capable of making the leading bouts of his weight in the world extend themselves in order to win. Ledoux lost to "Kiki" Williams of Baltimore at Yerkes, Cal., last week, after sixteen rounds of hard fighting.

Ledoux claimed that he had been fouled by the Baltimore lad, but before Eylon said that the French boxer had quit, and awarded the bout to Williams. It seems that Eylon made a grave mistake when he awarded the bout to Williams, for several days after the battle, and competent observers who examined him stated that he had been hit by several

Refer to Eylon's decision and look at the difference between the winner's and loser's faces, and you will see that Eylon was right.

HOW TO MEET SWEENEY.
SPILLER will be two other good bouts at the Atlas Club. Mickey Brown of Malden will meet Philly McEvoy of Brooklyn, while "Gee" Alberts will swap punches with Tony Morahan of Boston.

Brown is certainly not as big as Mike from Melrose. He believes that he will prove his first for the bout with McEvoy of Brooklyn, while "Gee" Alberts' manager, Stanley Dyer, has recently been humbled by McEvoy, who was going for a match with Jimmy Walsh. McEvoy is a rugged fighter with a punch. He has fought many bouts at the New York Casino and has won many of them.

ALBERTS HAS GOOD RECORD.
The Alberts-Morahan bout is sure to furnish plenty of action. Alberts is one of the best 25-pound boxers in the East, while Morahan recently did some good work in Philadelphia and New York City. Alberts is picked to win, but Morahan may win the bout if he has a back and knee in a winner.

ARMON'S CHALLENGE BANTAM.
"YOUNG" ARMON of East Boston is looking for a fight. He is a bantamweight, and has won many of his bouts. He is looking for a fight with a champion of the country, but adds that he will accept a pound or two in order to keep busy.

MUNIC WILL MEET BIDDER.
MIKE MUNIC wishes that Johnny Bidder will accommodate Joe Bidder in the title fight. Munic is in form to fight. Bidder also is in form to fight. Bidder is looking for a fight with a champion of the country, but adds that he will accept a pound or two in order to keep busy.

Boston May Have New Boxing Club.
A new boxing club will probably be opened in Boston in September. It is stated on good authority that the new club will be opened in the city. The promoters are now looking for a match between a champion of the country and a champion of the city.

It is planned to hold the first bout of the new club on Labor Day evening. The promoters are now looking for a match between a champion of the country and a champion of the city. The bout will be held at the city. The bout will be held at the city.

OH JOY! 'MIKE' SIGNS TO PLAY FOR CLEVELAND

DOCTORS LAUD
$100,000,000
ANEMIA FUND

"Five millions a year ought to do considerable good in a fight against anemia, whether in the tropics or elsewhere, but it must be remembered that in combating the anemic condition of a person, a nation or a race, a general crusade and clean-up of many different forms of parasitical disease has to be made to have the fight successful," declared Dr. Franklin Shipman Newell of No. 443 Beacraft street, professor of diseases and hygiene.

World-wide interest over this colossal gift found many prominent Boston physicians yesterday discussing the subject. When the announcement of the fund was recently made in England by United States Ambassador Page it was declared that when anemia was cured among the Asiatic and tropical races the mystery of Anemia Vast Subject.

In further discussing the subject Dr. Newell said:
Anemia is one of these things upon which you could write a book and still not begin to exhaust the subject. It is a malady particularly prevalent in the tropics because people there are subject to more parasitical diseases of which anemia

Among us anemia is the result of such diseases as tuberculosis, cancer, Bright's disease and the like. It is a diminution of the number of red corpuscles in the blood. The lethargy and inertia of the tropical and Asiatic races induced by an anemic condition is largely the result of improper sanitation, the consumption of bad drinking water and the hook worm disease, which no doubt a part of this endowment is intended to fight."

Another Harvard expert in diseases of the blood who refused to have his name used, said:

Know Little of Disease.

This $100,000,000 gift is one of the most tremendous of world philanthropies. We know very little about the subtle anemia of the tropical races. We do not yet know the cause of pernicious anemia which is usually fatal and which sometimes occurs in this country. But the anemia of the temperate climate and that which is so universal among the Asiatics and the peoples of hot countries are quite different. In one case anemia is, generally speaking, sporadic. In the other it is almost universal, with the result that whole nations are standing still or retrograding. It is a subtle, insidious disease that even the best of surroundings and care and proper feeding and sanitation seems to be unable to cure. Millions truly will be needed to discover its cause and cure and it will be truly a fact that once that has been accomplished, the supremacy of the world will be anybody's.
